the dealings being very largely confined to the room traders. Sugar, of the industrials, and St. Paul, of the railway list, did more than one-half the business, the only other stock in which the transactions exceeded 10,000 shares being General Electric. The tone of speculation at the opening was weak, and prices were generally %0% per cent. lower. Sugar, however, was an exception, and on good buying rose 1 per cent., as compared with the closing sale of Saturday. The advance led to realizations which induced a selling movement by the short interest and prices took a sharp downward turn, there being no supporting orders in the market until 165% was touched, a decline of 2 per cent, from the top figures of the morning. Then some covering was done, which caused a rally of 1%, followed by a reaction of 1½ and a final recovery of ½, the closing price being the same as Saturday's. Sugar preferred advanced ½ on the day. St. Paul was held very steadily during the morning and early afternoon, but was sold heavily during the last hour on a report, which lacks confirmation, to the effect that the company contemplated the issue of bonds to the amount of $5,000,000 for equipment purposes. This led to a decline in the stock of % per cent., the last being the lowest price of the day. General Electric gained in the opening trading, but quickly declined 1% on liquidating sales, said to be for the account of a Boston estate. A rally of 1/2 took place in the final dealings. National Lead, after an early improve-ment of %, declined 1 per cent., closing at the lowest point touched. The general mar-ket was irregular and unsettled during the day, the fluctuations being narrow in the usual active shares. The late dealings were weak in tone, and the market closed easy, with about as many stocks showing declines on the day as there were advances. In the column of gains is Wheeling & Lake Eric preferred, 1%. The more notable declines are Pullman, 2; United States Leather preferred, 1%; Manhattan and American Tobacco, each 1 per cent., and Baltimore & Ohio, 14 per cent. The grangers are down 40% per cent. It is thought that the shipments of gold this week will about equal last week's exports, but the amount to go forward will largely depend on whether London becomes a seller or a buyer on the New York Exchange. The $1,200,000 gold to be shipped by the Trave to-day was taken from the subtreasury. The bond market was only moderately active, and was heavier in tone than for some time past. The demand was mater-tally lessened. Prices are irregular com-pared with previous figures, the leading changes being: Advances—St. Paul, Louis-

A Good Trade for Monday-Hides Dull

-Provisions Active. Trade opened fairly active yesterday. Packers report the volume of sales of provisions as larger than the corresponding period last year. The hide market is flat.

Wool is attracting some attention. A low range of prices may be looked for this season for the new clip. The seed market is less active and prices easier. On Commission row there is a good deal of activity with prices unsettled. Poultry and eggs are both weak at quotations. Butter is in large supply and prices low with much of the stock poor. Hardware men report trade improving. Druggists are having a good business, especially in the line of paints and oils. There was a little more snap to the local grain market yesterday. Oats and corn continue to be in good request, prices fluctuating little the last ten days. Track bids yesterday ruled as follows:

Double Cropping on the Farm. American Cultivator.

It is quite common for the gardener to grow two crops, and even a third, occasionally, from the same land in one season. There is real economy in doing so, for the gardener manures so highly and cultivates so thoroughly for the first crop that by the time it is off the soil is filled with soluble plant food that would be washed away and lost if something were not planted to gather it up. The farmer does not usually manure so heavily; but certain kinds of crops, when they come off in midsummer and fall, leave the soil with a great amount of available nitroge... Both corn and pota-toes are easily nipped by frost, but there is usually a long time of growing weather after frost has checked the demands of these crops on the soil. When turnips are sown in corn and potato fields in July they usually make slow growth till the crop is off. There is a good deal of cultivation of the soil required in harvesting the potato crop. This stirring of the soil develops nitrogen, and if there are no turnips or other hardy vegetable to use it a crop of most luxuriant weeds is sure to cover the ground. The low spreading chickweed or pigweed, as it is often called, makes late in fall its most abundant growth on rich land whence corn and potatoes have been removed. This weed is one of the greatest consumers of nitrogen we know of. Wherever it grows we always wish that some turnip seed or cab-bage plant had been planted to utilize in better way the plant food that this weed s wasting.

DOWN WITH A RUSH

All Wheat News Was Bearish and July Lost 13-8c.

Corn and Oats Participated in the Decline and Provisions Lost with Narrow Fluctuations.

CHICAGO, May 7 .- Dullness was the feature in all markets to-day. Wheat, under all sorts of bearish news including lower cables, bearish crop reports, and an increase on passage, declined steadily from start to finish and closed with July 1%c lower than on Saturday. Corn closed 1/2c lower, oats 4c off, and provisions slightly lower for pork and ribs, with lard un-decline and gradually sold down %0%c more, rallied 4c, declined 4c and closed as stated. With but few exceptions, the news was bearish. The opening was rather dull, but later the elling pressure became greater and in absence of support prices eased off. The lower cables, increase on passage, Kansas crop report, the general dulines and selling by Pardridge, all tended to depress values early, and the weakness was all the more pronounced on the disappointing decrease in the visible. Clearances, too, were disappointing, and this had the effect of increasing the offerings. Outside markets were weak, New York espeially, and many selling orders were on hand from that point. July finished but 1/3c from the bottom figures of the day.

In wheat opening trades showed 40%c

In corn there was very little animation, with the trade practically all local and fluctuations confined within 1/2c limits. The easier tendency of wheat and the favorable weather appeared to create a bearish sentiment, but the selling was not large. Closing prices were near the bottom.

In oats there was a fair trade and a weaker feeling, the offerings being ample for the present requirements of shorts, and prices, after opening steady, receded 1/2c for May, and June closed easy at about the inside. Provisions were fairly steady, but very dull, with scarcely any trading, the pit being almost deserted. There was undertone of easiness in sympathy with the decline in wheat. It was claimed by some of the oldest operators to be one of the slowest days on record, with the market the narrowest, perhaps, ever known. Com-pared with Saturday night, July pork is 2½ lower; July lard unchanged and July ribs .05c lower.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow are: Wheat, 85 cars; corn, 270 cars; oats, 213 cars; hogs, 15,000 head. Lake business was dull and rates easier at 14c for wheat and le bid for corn and oats to Buffalo. Leading futures ranged as follows:

Philadelphia Inquirer. In an experience of many years we have found that one of the very best foods for young turkeys is sour milk curd, made just as cottage cheese is, except the sea-soning. In order to have young turkeys make the quickest growth early in the season, before there are plenty of insects for them to feed on, they should be kept for the first few weeks in an inclosure where they can be fed often. Always provide them with plenty of pure water to drink, placing it in shallow vessels, so they can get out all right if they get in-as they probably will. A little turkey will drink before it is old enough to need any food, and water should be provided for them in time. Cold and dampness are their chief enemies, and you must use every effort to protect them against these until they are well feathered. They cannot stand a run in the damp grass even as well as little chickens can.
